

Cub Scout Leader Basic Training

Join us for the official “position-specific” training for all Cub Scout positions! If you haven’t taken the online training at my.scouting.org yet, join our webinar version instead. We’ll try to include a lot of the interactivity that we get when we do this training in person, including the chance to meet and share ideas with fellow leaders. The national curriculum covers almost 4 hours, so we’ve split it into two evenings. After you complete both parts, you’ll be considered trained for your position and entitled to wear the “Trained” patch.

Part 1 includes aims and methods, pack and den structure, advancement, and other basics of the Cub Scouting program.

Part 2 will be offered twice. This is the second half of the training we’re starting on May 17. In Part 2, we’ll split into breakout sessions with more detailed topics for each position (Den Leader, Cubmaster, Pack Committee). We’ll also come together to talk about ways to build stronger dens and packs with active programming and family involvement.

We’re offering Part 2 twice to make sure to provide an extra opportunity for anyone who can’t make it on May 24. Also, if you want to get trained for more than one position, you can attend on both May 24 and May 31 and join a different breakout group each time.
